

Monthly review

In June, the performance of Leadersel Event Driven was the result of the good yield of risk arbitrage and relative value positions, with the special situations portfolio, on the other hand, impacted by sector rotation dynamics that reduced its contribution. In detail, in risk arbitrage, on the European front, the finalization of the proposal on the British Intertek by the EQT fund should be highlighted, and the good movement of Banca Generali at the center of renewed speculation on possible transactions by the parent company as part of the defense of control of Assicurazioni Generali. In the American portfolio, in a generally favorable environment for arbitrage spreads, Electronic Arts' contribution after the antitrust approval by the European Commission to the acquisition of PIF is particularly noteworthy. Moving on to special situations, the contributions from Avolta and the short position on Eni were remarkable, thanks to the ongoing détente in the conflict in Iran which supported tourism-related stocks and penalized oil companies, and the position in Banca Monte dei Paschi after the takeover bid by Intesa Sanpaolo. During the month, however, there was a retracement of renewable energy stocks serving artificial intelligence infrastructure, a movement that represented the main detractor to the performance of the period. Finally, in relative value, it is worth highlighting the partial recovery of the Danieli savings spread compared to ordinary shares, at levels that are still far from discounting any conversion hypothesis, and the good performance of the long/short portfolio on European financials, taking advantage of the favorable dynamics of the banking sector. As regards asset allocation, the risk arbitrage component recorded a significant increase thanks to investments in new transactions announced in a still extremely lively context on the M&A front both in Europe and, above all, in the United States.

Investment objective

Leadersel Event Driven aims to achieve positive absolute returns with moderate volatility and low market correlation. The fund invests primarily in equity instruments, bonds, and derivatives of companies involved in mergers, acquisitions, spin-offs, or more generically "special situations", using a combination of strategies and favouring those least related to the general performance of markets.
